

LEARNING PLAN 0

Getting Started

This learning plan is intended to introduce you to some basics about the course.

I would like to have you explore and become familiar with the Blackboard environment and what your typical week will be like (quizzes, submitting assignments, etc.). In other words, we're going to practice this week before we get into the real thing! You are currently reading what is called a Learning Plan. Each learning plan will have a wealth of information for you to explore. There are three areas that you will see each week:
